Please write something personal about yourselves to assist me in performing a ceremony that has a “personal” touch, e.g. how and where you met.

Note: The marriage certificate the celebrant provides on the day is a commemorative certificate. Birth, Deaths and Marriages do not send the legal certificate when a marriage is registered, you will need to buy one. You can get a Queensland marriage certificate if you or the person you are applying for was married and registered here—use the marriage certificate application form for your first marriage certificate. This can be done by following the link below:
